

BEHAVIOURAL SAFETY POLICY

1. Introduction

At Avantgarde Tiling, we are committed to fostering a strong safety culture by focusing not only on compliance with safety procedures but also on employee behaviours that contribute to a safer working environment.

This Behavioural Safety Policy outlines our approach to encouraging safe behaviours, identifying unsafe actions, and promoting a culture of continuous improvement. It aligns with guidance from the Health and Safety Executive (HSE) on behavioural safety initiatives.

2. Policy Statement

Avantgarde Tiling is dedicated to:

- Reducing workplace incidents and injuries through proactive behavioural safety practices.
- Promoting a positive safety culture where employees feel empowered to act safely and report concerns.
- Encouraging behavioural safety observations to identify and address unsafe actions.
- Providing training and feedback mechanisms to improve safety awareness and behaviour.

3. Roles and Responsibilities

Management Responsibilities:

- Demonstrate Leadership by actively supporting and participating in behavioural safety initiatives.
- Provide Training and Resources to help employees recognize and reinforce safe behaviours.
- Foster a Culture of Accountability where safety is a shared responsibility.
- Ensure Non-Punitive Reporting, so employees feel comfortable reporting unsafe behaviours without fear of reprisal.

Employee Responsibilities:

- Commit to Safe Work Practices by following procedures and best practices.
- Participate in Behavioural Safety Programmes and training.
- Report Unsafe Behaviours or Conditions promptly to management.
- Engage in Peer Safety Observations and provide feedback to colleagues.

4. Behavioural Safety Programme

Avantgarde Tiling's Behavioural Safety Programme is designed to:

- Identify and address unsafe behaviours before they lead to accidents.
- Encourage positive reinforcement for employees who demonstrate safe practices.
- Provide ongoing behavioural safety training for employees and supervisors.

The programme includes:

- Regular Safety Observations: conduction of periodic safety observations to assess workplace behaviour.
- Feedback and Coaching: Employees receive constructive feedback on safety behaviours to reinforce good practices and correct unsafe ones.
- Safety Conversations: Management holds open discussions on behavioural safety to promote learning and improvement.

5. Training and Awareness

Avantgarde Tiling provides employees with behavioural safety training through:

- Our HR Platform, offering courses on safety awareness and behavioural risk management.
- On-Site Toolbox Talks, covering key behavioural safety topics.
- Specialised Training Sessions for supervisors and managers on behaviour-based safety leadership.

6. Reporting and Incident Prevention

Employees are encouraged to:

- Report Unsafe Behaviours or Conditions using an open-door policy without fear of blame or consequences.
- Engage in Safety Conversations to raise concerns and suggest improvements.
- Participate in Near-Miss Reporting, allowing us to prevent incidents before they occur.

AVANTGARDE

Quality through Passion

7. Monitoring and Continuous Improvement

Avantgarde Tiling is committed to continuously improving its Behavioural Safety Programme by:

- Regularly Reviewing Safety Data, including behavioural observations and incident reports.
- Updating Training and Policies based on new safety research and industry best practices.
- Encouraging Employee Feedback to refine safety approaches.
